APU will apply for the “Certificate of Eligibility for Status of Residence” on behalf of the student at the request of that student. Before applying for the “Certificate of Eligibility for Status of Residence,” APU must confirm payment of AP House and insurance fees as the student’s intention to enroll in APU.

Accepted applicants must carefully plan their finances which should be sufficient during their stay at APU. APU will only apply for the “Certificate of Eligibility for Status of Residence” on behalf of those individuals who have shown sufficient financial support for their period of studies in Japan.

However, APU will not be responsible for any non-issuance of the certificate.

If the individual currently possess a “Pre-College Student” or “College Student” visa, or currently resides in Japan, he/she must apply to change the current visa to a “College Student” visa or extend the visa. In addition, if the individual intends to enter Japan on a visa other than a “College Student” visa (e.g. dependent visa, spouse visa, etc.), they must complete all the respective procedures by themselves. (APU will not complete the necessary procedures on behalf of the individual).

I agree with the above conditions and upon meeting all the requirements, I request Ritsumeikan Asia Pacific University (APU) to apply by proxy for my “Certificate of Eligibility for Status of Residence” at the Japanese Immigration Bureau.
